Technical Assistance Bulletin #88

Program: Veterans' Services

Topic: Careers with the Department of Veterans Affairs

Date: January 14, 2005

This Technical Assistance Bulletin addresses Internet sites that provide information on employment opportunities with the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA). The VA site at <http://www1.va.gov/vajobs/links.html> links to additional sites that may assist Texas Workforce Center (Workforce Center) staff in providing veterans, eligible persons, and other job seekers with information on job opportunities with the VA.

Additional VA Links

<http://www.va.gov/jobs/> (VA Job Opportunities)

This is the official recruitment Web site for the entire agency. The Web site provides:

- links to job openings;
- information on how to apply for those positions; and
- additional information about the VA's mission and culture.

<http://jobsearch.usajobs.opm.gov/a9va.asp> (VA Jobs at USAJobs)

This link takes visitors to all VA listings published at USAJOBS, the official government recruitment Web site sponsored by the Office of Personnel Management. The site includes professional and administrative openings and many VA health care job vacancies.

<http://www.vacareers.com> (Veterans Health Administration Placement Services)

This site provides information on vacancies and careers for many health care occupations within the Veterans Health Administration. Apply online for vacancies on this site.

Local Workforce Development Boards can make these Web sites available to veterans and other eligible persons—or any job seekers interested in pursuing job opportunities with the VA—by posting the information on Texas Workforce Center bulletin boards.
